Nomination for Governor Only Contest in Primary of Democratic Party

By Associated Press
Madison—The political contest preceding the primary elections in Wisconsin, September 5, will be confined largely to the Republican party. It was shown Wednesday when the last nomination papers were filed with the secretary of state.

All Republican candidates for United States senate, state offices and congress, with the single exception of Congressman James A. Frear, in the tenth congressional district have opposition with the division between LaFollette supporters and their opponents.

Mayor A. A. Bentley of La Crosse and Karl Mathie of Wausau will contest for the Democratic nomination for governor, the only primary fight in either the Democratic or Socialist or Prohibition party primaries.

THREE FOR GOVERNOR

Governor J. J. Blaine Attorney General Wm J. Morgan and Mayor A. C. McHenry of Oshkosh, are the three Republican candidates for nomination as governor. Dr. W. A. Genfield and Senator Robert M. LaFollette are the two senatorial candidates filed in the Republican primaries for the United States senate.

Lieut. Governor Geo. F. Cummings, of Eau Claire and Riley S. Young, of Dane, are opposing candidates for lieutenant governor. Fred R. Zimmerman, Milwaukee and Martin R. Paulsen, Stevens Point candidates for secretary of state. Solomon Levitan and Treasurer Henry Johnson candidates for state treasurer and Herman L. Ekern and John F. Baker, candidates for attorney general.

The first congressional district Lawrence C. Whitte, Edgerton will oppose Congressman Henry Allen Croper of Racine, the LaFollette Progressive candidate. Congressman Edward Voigt, Sheboygan, is opposed by Edward J. Gehl, the Independent Progressive Republican candidate in the second district.

Candidates for congress in the third district are Congressman John M. Nelson, LaFollette Progressive. Alvin B. Peterson, Prairie Du Chien, Conrad Plitz, Cadiz, and F. K. Shuttleworth, Madison.

APPLETON MAN RUNS

In the fourth district are John C. Schafer, LaFollette candidate of Wauwatosa, J. L. Grunwald, Milwaukee, F. E. Davidson, Milwaukee, Delbert Miller, West Allis and Frank Mackert, Milwaukee.

D. C. Hall, Edward Murray and Congressman Wm H. Stafford all of Milwaukee are the three candidates from the fifth district. Florian Lambert, Oshkosh and W. A. Titus, Fond du Lac are candidates in the sixth district with Congressman J. D. Beck, Viroqua and A. C. Kinsford, Baraboo, opponents in the seventh.

Congressman E. E. Browne, Waupaca, E. A. Dunn, Wausau, and John N. Wislady are the three candidates in the eighth district contest. Elmer S. Hall, Green Bay, present secretary of state, George Schneider, Appleton and Judge Henry Graess, Green Bay are contestants in the ninth district. Congressman J. A. Frear, Hudson is unopposed in the tenth district and congressman A. P. Nelson, Grantsburg, has H. Peavy as his opponent in the eleventh.

Outside of the contest for governor between Mayor Bentley and Mr. Mathie, Democratic candidates have no opposition.

Mrs. Ben C. Hooper is candidate for the United States senate. Joseph R. Pfiffner, Stevens Point, for lieutenant governor, P. S. Bronkila, Milwaukee, for secretary of state, Emil Tank, Watertown, for state treasurer, and F. Collins, Sheboygan, for attorney general.

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE

Democratic congressional candidates are W. F. Schanen, Port Washington, Second District, Martha Riley, Madison, third district, Joe F. Drazdow, Milwaukee, fourth district, John M. Callahan, Milwaukee, sixth district, B. J. Jolivet, LaCrosse, seventh district and C. J. Hantzel, Antigo, ninth district.

Outside of the contest for secretary of state, C. L. Allen, Eau Claire for attorney general and A. R. Buckman, Niriis, for United States senator.

MARILYN MILLER
Miss Miller And Pickford To Wed July 30

By Associated Press
Los Angeles—The date of the wedding of Marilyn Miller of the stage to Jack Pickford of the screen has been advanced from August 1 to July 30.

The advancement and the announcement of it were both made by Jack's mother, Mrs. Charlotte Pickford, also mother of Mary Pickford, the wife of Douglas Fairbanks.

Miss Miller arrived here Tuesday and she and her fiancé were discussing their plans for being married August 1, when Mrs. Pickford interrupted. "No they'll be married next Sunday—at 7 o'clock Sunday night—so there will be no interruptions in the picture work."

The wedding will be at Doug's and Mary's home in Beverly Hills.

FLORISTS MEET IS LARGEST IN STATE HISTORY

Twelve New Members Are Admitted—Many Hot Houses in Wisconsin

By Associated Press
Oshkosh—The convention of the Wisconsin Florists' Association, which opened here Tuesday and will close Wednesday afternoon, is the largest in the history of that organization. Twelve new members were admitted, making a total enrollment of 186. It is expected the association will soon have a membership of nearly 100 per cent of the professional florists of the state. An address of welcome was given by Councilman J. C. Voss in the absence from the city of Mayor McHenry. C. C. and said the skill of florists had more to do with true civic improvement than any other agency. S. B. Frack, state entomologist urged greater use of his department by professional florists in fighting plant principles and diseases. J. F. Amman, Detroit spoke of the purposes of the florists telegraph delivery association which makes it possible to order flowers at almost any city and have them delivered in a few hours. He said Wisconsin has more than four million square feet of hot house property.

INVESTIGATE COAL SUPPLY OF STATE

By Associated Press
Madison—The Wisconsin railroad commission Wednesday commenced gathering information concerning the coal supply situation in this state. Reports that reserves on lake port docks are being shipped east instead of being held for use by consumers in this state, has caused the commission to take immediate action to investigate.

A telegram to Governor J. A. O. Freus, of Minnesota, from L. E. Gettle, chairman of the railroad commission, advised him that Wisconsin would cooperate in the collection of data in respect to the coal on the docks and in dealers hands. He said that this state was at once organized to get in touch with dock operators and dealers.

Twenty-eight Names Will be Placed on County Primary Ballot

TWO FAIL TO FILE PAPERS

Five Republicans Seek Nomination for Sheriff—Four For County Attorney

With 28 candidates who have filed nomination papers for county offices the county political campaign which now will begin in earnest promises to be as exciting as any in the past. The keenest rivalry will be in the Republican camps, as 26 of the 28 candidates are members of that party. The only two Democratic candidates in the running are L. Hugo Keller for district attorney and John E. Hantschel for county clerk.

Most of the nomination papers were filed Tuesday, the last allowed by law. As a result of a misunderstanding of the law which has set the date for filing somewhat earlier than previously, some of the candidates had to hurry to get their papers in on time. It is also rumored that one of the candidates nearly missed out on the number of signatures on account of a misunderstanding of the number required. Two candidates for office, Raymond Vought, who was running for clerk, and Mark Hopkins Osborn, candidate for sheriff, failed to file papers at all.

ASSEMBLY FIGHT

A hot contest is expected for the offices of assemblymen. There are three candidates from the First district and two from the Second. Assemblyman Mark Catlin, First district, who distinguished himself in the term he served in legislature, is a candidate for reelection. He was the recognized leader of his faction of the Republican party and received substantial support for the nomination as Wisconsin attorney general.

Charles Schimpf, also a Republican candidate for that office is a cigar maker by trade. He is the secretary of the local Aerie of the Eagles. John Schwabach is the third candidate for assemblyman of the First district. His many years of service as town chairman of Center and a member of the county board makes him well known.

Among the aspirants for the office of assemblyman, Second district, is Antone Miller of Kaukauna. He is a graduate of Yale university and has practiced law for 15 years. For more than three years he was in partnership with L. H. Bancroft, former attorney general. He has been a director and officer of a Wisconsin bank for the last ten years. Some time ago he was recommended by citizens of Kaukauna for state supreme court. He now is associated with the law firm of Morgan and Johns.

John A. Lonsdorf also a Republican candidate for district attorney, was for years a high school principal and a county school superintendent before taking up the practice of law. He was attorney for the Wisconsin Taxpayers' association for one year. Mr. Lonsdorf has been assessor of state money working in mills and on railroads to pay his way through law school. He was admitted to the bar in 1910. He is secretary and treasurer of the Outagamie National Farm Loan association.

Heber H. Pelkey of Appleton is also seeking the nomination for the office of county clerk.

LABOR RIGHTS ARE UPHELD IN COURT OF U. S.

Circuit Court of Appeals Denies Right of Roads To Form Company Unions

NEW UNIONS RECOGNIZED

Employers Cannot Restrict Labor in Choosing Its Own Representatives

By David Lawrence
Copyright, 1922, By Post Pub Co.
Washington—Declarations by L. F. Loree, president of the Delaware and Hudson, and other leaders of the railroad executive group that "company unions" would be formed as the basis hereafter of relations between railroads and their employees was regarded in official quarters here as a most unfortunate utterance at this time.

Such statements it was pointed out by government officials attacking rights of labor which are not directly involved in the pending dispute can serve only to inflame other union men who are now on strike, particularly the brotherhoods of trainmen and engineers, and will not contribute to early industrial peace.

Mr. Loree's announcement, it was assumed by officials as well as by spokesmen of the American Federation of Labor who criticized the step, was evidently made before the full text of the decision of the United States circuit court of appeals of the northern Illinois district was received in New York and thoroughly studied. That decision deals a death blow to the effort of the Pennsylvania railroad to establish a "company union" and it was widely regarded as precedent of what the Pennsylvania railroad had attempted that Mr. Loree's declaration on behalf of eastern railroad executives was built.

COURT UPHOLDS UNIONS

The truth is the federal courts have upheld the right of workers to be represented by men of their own choosing and without coercion or restriction on the part of their employers. An election which the Pennsylvania attempted to hold to choose representatives for the workmen was declared void by the United States Labor board and the courts now have upheld the right of the labor board to decide who is the legitimate representative of the employees.

Unfortunately the labor board itself has injected a complication in attempting to protest strikebreakers in the present railroad crisis. The board declared that if the men now at work formed new unions they would not be recognized. This of course does not mean that strikers who resist return to work would be deprived of the right to be represented by the American Federation of Labor or any other organization of their own making rather than the company's thought to be sure such an interpretation of the labor board's invitation to form new unions was widely distributed before being denied.

NO FURTHER SPREAD OF THE STRIKE

No further spread of the strike was looked for although 50 maintenance men at Shawnee, Okla., and a number at Moberly, Mo., quit work Tuesday because armed guards are patrolling railroad property in those cities. A resolution adopted Tuesday by representatives of nearly 300 general chairmen of the clerks' union declared they would resort to their "economic power" if their grievances are not adjusted, but it is believed they will take no further strike action pending negotiations.

TRUCKS CARRY MAIL

Plans have been perfected for delivering mail by motor truck at least once a day to every community in upper Michigan North and South Dakota and Minnesota comprising the tenth railway mail district. Motor trucks are already being used in portions of Wisconsin, Michigan and North Dakota to carry mail and freight.

NO SECTION MEN'S STRIKE

E. F. Grable, president of the International Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees and Railroad Shop Laborers, denied Wednesday reports emanating from his headquarters at Detroit that the 400,000 members of the union were threatening again to strike.

Mr. Grable said negotiations were proceeding satisfactorily before the United States Railroad Labor Board.

Acting Governor of Illinois Asks Resumption of Work At Coal Mines

By Associated Press
Lansing, Michigan—An appeal to the coal miners to return to the Michigan pits against the orders of officials of the United Mine Workers of America that no separate agreements were to be made, was one of the probable courses of Governor A. J. Groesbeck Wednesday following his failure in an extended conference at Saginaw to induce state union officials to send the men back to work under an agreement that the coal they produced during the continuance of the general strike would be used only for state and municipal institutions. The governor returned here Wednesday to consider his next step, determined that the state's mines should not remain closed.

In refusing Tuesday night to authorize resumption of operations, T. Leo Jones, head of the Michigan miners, suggested the governor urge President Harding to compel central competitive field operators to enter with union heads but this the governor declared would be highly improper.

The Michigan operators have agreed to the taking over of their property by the state should the government decide upon that action.

U. S. AS DISTRIBUTOR

Washington, D. C.—While the administration continues to await results of the attempt to operate strikes affected mines at the same time supporting its policy in the rail strike to confer the railroad labor board as the only authorized agency to deal with it, the Interstate Commerce commission put into effect Wednesday transportation routing and priorities orders as the country's depleted coal supply and transportation facilities.

Having joined in the fuel distribution plan thus prepared for, producing operators and railroad traffic experts Wednesday waited the word.

Madison—Indication was given here today by opponents of Judge Henry Graess of Green Bay that court action would be commenced to prevent the placing of his name on the primary ballots as candidate for congress from the ninth Wisconsin district. The state law which prohibits any judge from participating in an election during the term of his office is said by opponents of Judge Graess to preclude the submission of his name to the voters.

ACCIDENT KILLS SHEBOYGAN MAN

By Associated Press
Sheboygan—James E. Mathewson, 58 one of the leading florists of Wisconsin and former president of the state organization was instantly killed Monday when he was riding and driving a heavy car on the Milwaukee and Sheboygan Lake turnpike.

An inquest has been ordered and both the coroner and district attorney indicate that action will be taken against the driver of the car as he was said to have been speeding.

Mr. Mathewson was head of the Mathewson Floral Gardens here. He is survived by his mother in Scotland, his wife and three children.

ASK FOR BETTER TERMS TO RUSSIAN SOVIETS

Moscow—An appeal to the world proletariat to bring pressure to bear on the various governments for better terms for Soviet Russia in its endeavors to establish relations with capitalist countries was issued Wednesday by the Communist international. The appeal emphasized that this action was being taken in view of the closing of "The Hague conference" which it declared was broken by Soviet firmness and insistence upon Russian rights.

EXAMINATIONS TO BE GIVEN FOR PLUMBERS

Madison—Candidates seeking to be licensed as plumbers for the first time will be examined at Milwaukee August 21 by the committee of plumbing examiners under the state board of health. BAKER PROPOSES TO WAGE WAR ON STOCK SWINDLERS

Candidate for Attorney General Speaks in Six Outagamie County Towns

John F. Baker, candidate for Republican nomination for attorney general, addressed a crowd of voters on campaign issues and his policies in six towns in Outagamie county Tuesday evening. Mr. Baker spent the entire day in the county, speaking at Hortonville, Black Creek, Shotton, Seymour, Kaukauna and Appleton.

BAKER made the charge that the stock market was being manipulated by a few men who were taking millions of dollars away from the people of Wisconsin in recent years. Mr. Baker said "The office of the attorney general should be a clearing house against the swindlers who have been reaping such a harvest in Wisconsin a headquarters which will direct a vigorous campaign against them. I propose to promote to attorney general to cooperate with the district attorneys in the state for the purpose of effecting with existing legal machinery a strong organization for that purpose."

HAS STATEWIDE PLAN
"It is my plan to have the district attorney of any county where there are discovered immediately notify the attorney general's office which in turn will not only cooperate with that district attorney but notify all the other district attorneys of the state to be on their guard for the sale of the particular securities being sold."

"Wisconsin now has an efficient Blue Sky law making it possible to prosecute these swindlers, but I propose not only to see that they are prosecuted but to use the machinery now in existence to prevent them from milking the public."

AGAINST SPECIAL COUNSEL
Mr. Baker stated in this connection that it would be his policy if elected attorney general, to do away with the employment of special counsel, but instead to use those now employed in the attorney general's office to handle all the legal work of the state.

"Of course the governor has the power under the law to appoint special counsel," he said, "and that right has been exercised in the past, but it will be my policy to discourage such practice."

REPLACE BRIDGE WRECKED BY FLOOD

The concrete bridge that has been under construction one half mile south of the Badger school was completed Tuesday. It replaces the one that was washed out by the heavy rains of June 10. It is expected that the new bridge will be open to traffic in a week or 10 days.

A culvert on the Oneida road near the city limits, where a part of the road had been washed out, was also repaired Tuesday. Several automobiles had been caught in the weak temporary structure that was placed over the washout. Several yards of dirt and stones were hauled to fill in the hole. This portion of the road is now perfectly safe for travel. It is said.

Nearly Forced Out Of Race By Legal Red Tape

W. F. Winsey, Republican candidate for register of deeds of Outagamie county, came near being forced out of the race due to a technicality in filing papers, but he was "saved" by a court order issued Tuesday by his wife and daughter, assisted by friends.

Mr. Winsey filed his papers but signed only his initials and surname. The law requires the first name to be signed in full. The error was noticed by the deputy county clerk who in turn tried to reach Mr. Winsey at the Post-Crescent where he is a field circulation employee.

Mr. Winsey had gone into the county for the day but left no word as to his destination. Tuesday was the last day for filing papers. The office employees began telephoning and Mrs. Winsey, who was informed of the predicament, started out with her daughter Wenona in their automobile.

Mr. Winsey had headed for Bear Creek, then decided he would be too late returning so went to Shotton. Mrs. Winsey went to Black Creek then to Shotton. She was inquiring in a hotel there when the daughter, sitting in the car, saw him arrive. He almost drove by without seeing her, frantic waving but a man who had been informed of the search stopped Mr. Winsey's car and told him he was wanted.

A hasty trip was made to the court house where the error was rectified.

Miss Hilda Leonhardt of Appleton and her niece Miss Alice Baum of Duluth have gone to St. Paul where they will visit relatives and friends.

Fire Department Chief Firm Supporter Of Plan To Change Street Names

Fire Fighting Force Would be More Efficient if City Had Systematic Method of Naming Streets and Numbering Buildings.

Among the first supporters of the plan to systematize Appleton's streets and numbers was Chief G. P. McGowan of the fire department. The department would be one of those to reap the benefits of an orderly street name and number system.

One who is not accustomed to travel about the city's streets extensively has no conception of how confusing the complex system of Appleton's street names and numbers is. Those whose activities keep them only on a few streets the year round may be satisfied to leave things as they are. But they are the ones who in an emergency would be most handicapped, he pointed out. On the other hand, very few of those whose business takes them all about the city can perfectly master the present system.

For the members of the fire department it is extremely difficult to memorize the location of all the short streets. While the trucks have never been delayed on a fire run on this account, he said, it is disconcerting to think of what would happen with a group of new men who are not thoroughly familiar with all the streets in the city.

MANY SHORT STREETS
One of the most complicating sections of the city, he said, is on the extreme east side where there is a great number of abbreviated streets. Streets that have two or three different names makes it equally confusing, he said.

If the city prefers to simplify the streets and house numbers, he said, it would be well to make a drastic change. The system of 100 numbers to a block is excellent, he admits. Allowing but one name for each street is imperative. Naming thoroughfares running in one direction "streets" and the others "avenues" also would help much. But if any

CHERRY PICKERS FINISH WORK THIS WEEK AT ORCHARDS

Amusement Makes Youth Forget Homesickness — Beine Group Leads

Appleton boys who are cherry picking at Camp Goff, Sturgeon Bay, are expected home before the end of the week. A letter to the Post-Crescent from J. E. Dennison, Y. M. C. A. camp director, indicates that the harvesting of the crop at the Goff orchard is nearing completion and favorable weather will mean that picking will end in one or two days.

Walter Beine's group is leading the camp in the amount of cherries picked, Mr. Dennison says.

A track meet was held recently between Camp Goff and the Main camp, in which the former captured 80 points out of 185. This was considered an excellent showing, as there are 500 boys in Main camp as compared with less than 200 in Camp Goff.

"Intergroup baseball, moving pictures, educational trips to Lake Michigan and Sturgeon Bay, tournaments in ping pong and other group games have so filled our time that we almost have forgotten the home folks," writes Mr. Dennison.

"The annual banquet with awarding of group and individual prizes will be held the night before we leave for home. To the best all-around camper will be given a gold knife presented the camp by P. C. Hyde, Appleton jeweler. An ironstone sun watch will be given to the best picker, and ribbons and banners to the individuals having the best records in camp."

Monday night a camp picture was taken, after which a talk was given by Charles E. Ford, metropolitan boys' work secretary of Milwaukee. The program closed with a moving picture.

A successful stunt competition was staged Wednesday of last week in which Franklin Jordan's group, the "Spooks" took the prize for the best stunt. It was a "takeoff" on the Bible story of David and Goliath. Sunday's program included a talk in the morning on "Sex Hygiene" by Frank R. Sherwood. The boys then attended the church of their choice at Sturgeon Bay. A treasure hunt was begun in the afternoon but the boys met with no success up to 4:30, when it was time to go to the Country club novelty pier for a swim. The search was continued after supper and ended with the finding of a large, delicious cake by John Burke of group No. 4. Group games followed in the evening and Mr. Dennison then reviewed McGowan's book, "The Trail a Boy Travels." Devotions and taps followed.

ULMEN TO TAKE CHARGE OF GRAND CHUTE CENSUS

Bernard Ulmen has undertaken to organize the service men's census work in the town of Grand Chute, according to word received by Miss Ann Helm, Red Cross secretary, who is assisting in the direction of the census in the county. Grand Chute had originally been reserved for the Appleton American Legion post. But as this city occupies so large a territory with respect to population, the work outside the city limits will be organized separately. Mr. Ulmen will be assisted in the work by several other former service men.

Veteran Theatrical Man Recalls Old-time Theatre

Two bright red camping trucks wheeled into Appleton Monday morning, labeled on their sides, "Wolford's Circus." One of them was driven by a genial elderly gentleman who as soon as he climbed from his seat and looked around was able to relate an interesting bit of reminiscence of Appleton's early theatrical days.

The man's name is A. L. Bryan, 72, who has been in the show business for 63 years, traveling all over the United States and Europe. Thirty-five years ago he visited Appleton with his own theatrical company called "Bryan's Comedians," and played to an audience in what was commonly called "Erb's Red Theater." It was a stuffy 2-story, red brick building which stands where the First National Bank now is located, and which later burned. There were 24 people, a band and orchestra in Mr. Bryan's company and they made a distinct hit in Appleton.

The venerable director is through dealing with the human beings of a show troupe, partly because the training and maintenance is too strenuous. He now is happy in a roving life with his partner, Henry Wolford, conducting a show with 18 "actors," 13 brightly-eyed little fox terriers and 6 small monkeys.

One of the two automobiles contains the cages for the animals and a bunk for the driver. The other has a bunk and the cooking equipment. The pair has been on the road with this show for three years, traveling through thirty-nine states. Four automobiles have been worn out in their journeys and the two now in use are to be exchanged for new ones when the outfit reaches Lansing, Mich.

The "circus" exhibits in theaters but had no engagement in Appleton. The next performance probably will be staged at Kaukauna and then at Green Bay. Southern cities are visited in the winter time and the north in the summer time. Florida will be the destination when the southern journey is begun. Mr. Bryan owns a farm in Clair-co., Michigan, which he has not visited for five years and Mr. Wolford's home is in Kentucky.

Nellie, one of the dozen female terriers that gave their little act before thousands, has quit the stage but she is given care and attention such as a father would give his child. Nellie was one of the best entertainers, but she has reached her fifteenth year and is too old to act any more. She became deaf and then blind, but in recognition of her service she is carried with her companion dogs and will be kept until she dies.

The monkeys are so well trained that they may be released without tying to climb around the truck and play on the pavement, always returning to their cages when their names are called by their masters.

DETOUR ON ROUTE 18 IS WELL MARKED AND IN GOOD SHAPE

No Reason for Missing Road if Driver is Careful, Brusewitz Says

Motorists should have no difficulty in locating the detour on state trunk highway No. 18 west of Appleton, said A. G. Brusewitz, county highway commissioner. It is reported that a number of persons driving by that way this week failed to see where the detour began and were forced to turn back on account of the four and a half miles concrete road building project on this highway.

"I don't see how it is possible to miss the signs," said Mr. Brusewitz. "Driving from Appleton one strikes the detour at state trunk highway 39, turns north and drives one mile in that direction and then turns to drive five miles west until one strikes county trunk highway M and then drives back one mile to the south which brings one direct into Medina. The concrete ends a little more than a half mile west of the detour. If one misses 39, one can still detour at the road one mile west."

Autoists should not expect to find detours in the same condition as the trunk highways, the commissioner pointed out. In time to come side roads will be put in as good shape as many of the mainly traveled roads. While the detour on highway 18 is quite narrow making fast driving and passing of other automobiles more difficult, it is quite impossible to improve the side road to absolutely satisfy the automobile drivers, he said. A patrolman is working on the road however.

Greinke Brothers who have been awarded the roadbuilding contract on this project are now at work on the bridge and culverts. Grading has as yet not been attempted.

COUNTY AWARDS 4 MORE CONTRACTS TO BUILD BRIDGES

Culverts Washed Out in Recent Flood to be Restored as Soon as Possible

Four more bridge building contracts were awarded Monday afternoon by the county state road and bridge committee of Outagamie-co. The bridges to be built are the Krantz bridge on county trunk line J spanning Apple creek; Foster bridge in Vandenberg on county trunk line E and spanning Apple creek; Sniderville North bridge, town of Kaukauna, county line of Outagamie and Brown counties; Guernsey creek bridge in Deer Creek on the Bear Creek-Clintonville rd. Garvey-Weyenberg was awarded the contract for the largest bridge, the Krantz bridge, and also that for the Guernsey creek bridge. The Foster bridge is to be built by Hoffman Construction company, and Charles Appleton has the contract for the Sniderville North bridge. The contract prices on the four bridges are as follows: Krantz, $10,500; Foster, $4,384.80; Sniderville North, $3,503.75; Guernsey Creek, $2,006.25. The Krantz bridge contract calls for approximately 325 cubic yards of concrete girder type bridge of two 40 foot spans. The Foster bridge also is to be a girder type with 203 cubic yards of concrete. Sniderville North and Guernsey Creek bridges are both to be of slab type, the first a 24 foot span and 135 cubic yards of concrete, the second a 20 foot span and 75 cubic yards of concrete.

MR. HUGHES AND THE LEAGUE

Recently Mr. Raymond Fosdick and others of the champions of the League of Nations have been chiding the secretary of state for his record in the Harding administration on this subject. Mr. Fosdick charged that the department of state, instead of cooperating as well as it could under the circumstances with the League was actually hampering the work. Mr. Hughes entered a denial and his critic replied with specific citations, dealing with mandates and the international health program. Mr. Fosdick concluded the exchange with the statement that "all that St. (the League) now asks is a fair chance. It can survive with the United States not a member. Whether it can survive the open hostility of the United States is another question."

While it is only fair to Mr. Hughes to say that in his supplementary rejoinder he absolved himself from actual hostility to the League, the facts seem to show that his attitude toward it has been one of cold courtesy rather than sympathetic cooperation. Inasmuch as Mr. Hughes was one of the early and devout champions of the League his course is hardly fair to himself. Even as late as October 14th, 1920, Mr. Hughes with thirty other prominent Republicans signed a public statement in which he said:

"We have reached the conclusion that the League course to bring America into an active League to preserve peace is a course which is frankly leading upon the other nations to agree to changes in the proposed agreement which will obviate this vital objection (Article X) and other objections less the subject of dispute."

For this course we can look only to the Republican party and its candidate, the Democratic party and its candidate are not bound to follow it. The Republican party is bound by every consideration of good faith to pursue such a course until the declared object is attained."

Mr. Hughes committed himself and undertook to commit his party to this course after full discussion of the League of Nations during the presidential campaign. So far as Mr. Hughes is concerned it constitutes a pledge, and it is furthermore his opinion that the Republican party is bound in good faith by the same pledge. Nearly two years have passed and we are not aware of a single move having been made by the administration in the direction toward which the secretary of state solemnly said it was obligated. Nothing whatever has been done toward modifying the League constitution so as to remove the objections of the United States and permit its membership, nor has anything been done toward the creation of a substitute association of nations as discussed by Mr. Harding in the campaign of 1920.

It seems to us that Mr. Hughes' personal honor is involved in his promise of October, 1920 and what has, or what rather has not, happened since then. Through the forty years of his distinguished editorship of the New York Times, Mr. Charles R. Miller, who died recently, made it a fixed principle never to require a writer on that paper to write an editorial to which he could not conscientiously subscribe. We think the same obligation applies in governmental affairs, and with it the right of a high public official to be excused from executing a policy to which he cannot subscribe. If Mr. Hughes continues in his present position, the day will come when he must either execute his promise or defend his failure to do so. The administration itself may be privileged to pursue a devious course on the subject of the League of Nations, but its secretary of state is estopped by his declaration of October 14, 1920, from any such license. His duty is clearly indicated, and we do not know what subterfuge he could employ to evade it.

GLORIFYING NEWBERRYISM

The Chicago Tribune has taken its stand on the side of "Newberryism." It says that in its opinion the people of Michigan "properly approved the use of money in the election of Senator Newberry" and that a "great to-do has been raised and a new political phrase used throughout the country to denote an evil which did not exist. The less we have of this sort of politics, pretending to lofty virtue the better for the cause of political intelligence and responsibility."

This is exactly what we might expect of the Tribune, a newspaper whose every conviction is opportunist. The Tribune hates Henry Ford. Any method used to kill Mr. Ford politically, it is prepared to justify. It makes no difference to the Tribune whether lynch law is used or whether the execution is legal. As the south justifies the burning of suspects or offenders at the stake, the Tribune puts its seal of moral approval on corruption and the unlimited use of money to control elections. The use of any amount of money in Michigan in any form to defeat Henry Ford was, in its opinion, right and legitimate.

It does not matter to the Tribune that a United States court jury found Mr. Newberry and many of his associates guilty of a crime and that the court sentenced them to prison. Because they escaped on a technicality their acts become pure and corruption takes on the whiteness of snow. It does not matter to the Tribune that when the United States senate swallowed Newberryism it so choked on the gristle that it tried to excuse itself by adopting a resolution of censure on the scandalous use of money in elections and declaring that what happened in Michigan must not happen again.

The Tribune is for the purchase of United States senatorships. It is for getting them by any hook or crook, corruption or barter, in order to defeat a candidate it dislikes. This is the high-minded principle that governed its abuse of Wilson, its demand for intervention in Mexico, in fact most of its shifting policies from day to day. Mr. Ford once sued the Tribune for libel. He and his friends are opposing the reelection of Senator Townsend of Michigan because Townsend voted to seat Newberry. That is enough. The Tribune glorifies Newberryism and Townsend.

Applying the same principle, it is a national misfortune (to the Tribune) that a billion dollar slush fund was not raised in 1916 to buy the presidency.

THE MEASURE OF THE INTELLECT

Note the titles and skim over the pages of the scores of periodicals which are on display on the news stands, and you will gather an idea as to what the social groups are reading. Your quiet investigation will surprise you. At a counter in a chain store which sells low-priced articles, you will see cheap novels, treating of wealth and dress, which are sure to give the girls who read them false notions of morals, marriage, work and life in general. If you visit several news stands in different parts of town, you will observe trashy weeklies and monthlies containing articles and stories which could interest none but shallow minds and whose effects can only be debasing.

We are very cautious about the company we keep. We try not to associate with sloven persons, foolish persons, coarse persons. Our friends would lose their respect for us. We should feel ashamed. We should dread contamination. Our reading matter is company. Judges of character and intellect can tell what we are, and what our tastes and proclivities are, by what we read. Books and periodicals are companions, and those that we read and like indicate our culture, our intelligence, our morals, our secret inclinations of spirit and mind.

Evil books and periodicals are the most pernicious associates. Their degrading influence is permeative and lasting, leaving impressions which it may be impossible to eradicate. Boys and girls who revel in trashy literature probably are unaware of the charm of artistic, sound reading and of the value and interest derived from perusing standard periodicals. They are attracted by captions which seem to offer light, exhilarating entertainment, requiring no mental effort. If they were convinced that they could find more delight with great profit, in respectable books and periodicals, they would avoid the pestilential publications. It is primarily the duty of parents to inculcate in the young a desire for the right kind of reading.

Clearing the Complexion

I was 10 years learning that when a girl or woman speaks of "clearing the complexion" she means ridding the skin of pimples if she doesn't mean relieving a sallow, muddy or otherwise imperfect complexion. But, at that, I am a fast worker compared with the mere laity, for the laity has been at least a hundred years learning that physics do not "clear the complexion" and I rather from my correspondence that the laity has not yet learned this any too well. It is queer, too, how dull and unobscuring the laity can be about such matters. Look at all the sallow, pimply, discouraging complexions that get constantly no better under an endless bombardment with all kinds of physics, alleged "liver regulators," salts, herb teas and similar junk. And these poor, misguided folk fondly cherish the notion that physics do somehow "clear the complexion." I call that laziness.

A sallow complexion has a yellowish hue because that is the natural color of the skin, and the panniculus or layer of fat immediately beneath the skin. It is the perfusion of the yellowish skin with red blood that gives the flesh tint which is most desired. The sallow complexion therefore has nothing whatever to do with the functional condition of the liver, those famous authorities, Mrs. Sumner and Told in various circumstances. "Liver tonics" appeal to the imagination of one whose understanding of these things is vague, and the fellow behind the liver medicine certainly is master of the art of fascination. His impressive pseudo scientific jargon makes the old fashioned liver pill lure seem very unattractive indeed.

Not only temporary absence of blood from the face gives a sallow hue, but permanent blood deficiency in marked anemias (weakening of the blood forming cause causes fading of the clear flesh tint and increase of the sallow. Thousands of women, knowing this, have sought to remedy the trouble by taking iron in one form or another, although there is no reason to imagine that iron "tonics" really do increase the strength or amount of blood. Of course the effect of the iron medicine is always disappointing, unless perchance the cause of the anemia has been sought out and remedied meantime. Nothing is more futile than taking iron for a real or fancied anemia and doing nothing to remedy the cause of the anemia. Every bit of worthy while evidence we have indicates that in the absence of proper medical treatment of the condition, whatever it may be, responsible for anemia, no kind or amount of iron is worth a hoot. However, this won't worry the untutored girl who is eager to take anything but advice for her complexion.

Old wives may require oiling to keep them at their best, but the young skin is naturally oily enough and calls for no artificial greasing. Soap and water is generally the best beautifier for the young skin. And plenty of air and sunlight will give the complexion what no amount or kind of artificial dope can supply.

A little pure talcum powder is harmless enough. Rice powder is equally harmless but often causes chronic sore eyes. A touch of rouge, an artistic touch, is all right too, but its use varies indirectly with ignorance of hygiene.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Canker Sores

Can you suggest any medicine or diet or preventive treatment for canker sores in the mouth? I suffer a great deal from these painful sores.—M. F. K.

Answer—Touch each canker daily with half tincture of iodine and half glycerin on a wisp of cotton on a toothpick. Rinse the mouth freely and at least four times daily with a solution of all the borax acid powder freshly boiled water will dissolve, using the solution at tepid heat.

Picking the Far Spots

Will sleeping on a pine pillow help out a catarrhal condition of the nose and throat? I understand that the climate of San Bernardino and San Diego, Cal., and Tampa and Petersburg, Fla., is good for a general catarrhal condition.—H. J. D., New Jersey.

Answer—No, even a hickory pillow won't cure catarrh, whatever that may be. Only a day or two ago a San Bernardino resident inquired about the climate of New York—the San Bernardino article being bad for his bronchial "catarrh." Climate all seem good when far away.

Fine Scheme for Fat Husbands
Please send me some reducing exercises. My husband is 36 years old, 66 inches tall and weighs 210 pounds.—Mrs. M. J.

Answer—Friend husband will have to take the medicine himself, and even at that exercise won't do the business. He must shave the intake with a ruthless hand. As wise old Luigi Cornaro said: "He who would eat much must eat little." Quote that to friend husband and watch him tremble. My dear madam, why work yourself to death preparing state for the man, when by a firm but gentle pruning of the menu you can keep him so much longer?

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Wednesday, July 28, 1897

T. W. Orison was in Milwaukee on business. George Lamond of Chicago was visiting paper manufacturers.

Matt Schmidt was back at Joseph Spitz's clothing store for a visit with friends in Milwaukee and Chicago.

Miss Milla Burch left for Menominee, Mich., where she was to spend a 3-weeks vacation with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. William Teich and children returned from a visit with relatives and friends at Menominee and Marinette.

The Cutbert and Featherstone families with George and Charles Baldwin and T. H. Ryan rented a cottage at the Willow for a 2-weeks' outing. Grading on the new interurban line between Neenah and Appleton was commenced the day previous at a point on the lake road directly west of the Massonet house and about half way between the beach and railroad track. A crew of 40 men was employed.

Papers were filed with the clerk of the court whereby Frank Reuter of Kaukauna made an assignment to Frank Hoberg. The assignee gave a bond of $750 which indicated the amount of liabilities.

E. W. Pelton returned from the Pulwood Supply Co.'s dock at Long Tail point, where the breaking up and shipping of a 5,000 cord raft of Canadian pulpwood had just been completed.

Judge George Baldwin returned from a two weeks' visit to South Dakota, where he went to look over his real estate interests.

Miss Agnes Hulbert of Appleton and Ferdinand Yelg of Watertown were married at St. Joseph church.

Tobacco Paper Co. completed improving one of its paper machines with top drivers.

Guide boards were being erected in all parts of the county to comply with the new law.

ROOM FOR REFORM IN DIRECT PRIMARY SYSTEM

Suggestions that the direct primary system be abolished in favor of the renewal of the convention method of making political party nominations, as advocated by Secretary of War Weeks and other political leaders recently has aroused a sharp discussion of the merits and demerits of the proposed change. The fact that Gifford Pinchot was compelled to expend a fortune to secure the nomination for Governor of Pennsylvania generally is referred to as showing the need of reform. The consensus of opinion of the editors of the country, however, seems to be that the primary system must be continued although it can be amended and improved through the application of remedies that will meet the objections revealed at recent elections. One suggestion, that the direct primary be replaced by a system of primaries in many quarters, has been made. It has been made of the good features of both the convention and the primary system.

"From the public point of view," the BALTIMORE SUN points out, "the primary system has already given a brilliant justification of itself; it has shown the country its true political temper in various communities; it has taken the heart out of the reactionaries to a large extent. The flexibility of the primary system is vastly increased by reason of it, the transference of party control in obedience to the mandate of the rank and file is made direct and certain. Under the old convention system there is no doubt that the progressive wing, which has scored consecutive victories in Indiana, Pennsylvania, Iowa and North Dakota, would have been trampled under foot with comparative ease and the control of the state organizations in the hands of the old line politicians would have remained unshaken."

But if the primary is to remain a potent weapon there must be changes in methods. The SEATTLE TIMES insists because "there must be a limit to extravagance or we shall come to the point where no man of modest resources can aspire to the presidency." The Indianapolis NEWS believes that there is more smoke than fire in the movement to abolish the primary because "even the practical politicians are not unanimous in their condemnation of the primary. They have found that sometimes they can bring about the results they desire through it as readily as they could through hand-picked convention delegates. In such cases the primary merely requires a little more work and sometimes a great deal more money."

Only the "reactionaries" are advocating the abolition of the primary. The Lynchburg NEWS declares insisting that "the chief reason why the primary is not so perfect an instrument as it should be is that the 'average citizen, the person without political influence, does not take sufficient personal interest in it. There are many more good citizens in every primary in this country than there are bad citizens. The corrupt vote, the controlled vote is a hopeless minority. It is only possible for it to become a controlling factor in the primary when the good citizen neglects his duty." To this position the BALTIMORE NEWS takes exception urging that "the fact that the revolt against the direct primary is so formidable and that it is, so widespread, if not conclusive argument against it, certainly warrants study and investigation here to see whether this state may not find a way to keep what is good in both systems." Which brings from Capper's WEEKLY the declaration that "the public wants the primary system extended. It wishes to see its Presidents nominated by a direct vote of the people," and from the Topeka CAPITAL the demand that "revision of the primary should be made by its friends when it is revised."

"The chief objection to the primary," as the Fort Wayne JOURNAL GAZETTE sees it, "is that the candidate not backed by the organization of the bosses is compelled to spend a fortune to get his case adequately before the people. If he does not and he loses the election he is nominated. But no matter how deserving he is not nominated even by the people if the people are not made familiar with his candidacy, and this calls for the expenditure of great sums of money." As a remedy the SCRANTON TIMES "rather likes the plan adopted by the Pennsylvania Democrats this year, a combination of convention and primary systems by which representative party men and women designated candidates aspire for nomination as official representatives of the party. Such a system leaves the way open for any individual who wants to enter the lists." And, according to the Charleston MAIL, "some of the advocates of the primary insist that it has ruled out some of the reactionaries, but if it has done so, it has also swamped some of the progressives as the returns show. So there you are with the primary working both ways. Certain it is that under the old convention system, even if manipulated by the politicians, they would not dare endorse some of the men who offer themselves in a primary, and about whom the people know nothing and are just as likely as not to vote for blindly and take a chance on them. Even the old stamp of politician had some regard to public sentiment and recognized limits beyond which it would not be safe to go." A similar view is voiced by the HARDWOOD COURANT which asserts that "the primary convention may not have been perfect—few things are—but judged results it produced better political leaders than appear to be created by the primaries. Measured by what was promised for it, the direct primary has been a ghastly failure."

It is "absurd" in the opinion of the GRAND RAPIDS HERALD "to refuse to concede that the primary system has just as many rotten spots as the convention system used to have—particularly absurd to refuse in the name of 'progressivism' which is supposed to exemplify candor and courage. The logical evolution is a combination of the merits of both systems discarding the demerits of both. Such a combination is offered in the 'Pre-Primary Convention System.' Organized party responsibility has a chance to deliver upon the common welfare and to make nominatory recommendations to the party rank and file; but the party rank and file holds final veto on the work of the pre-primary convention through the medium of an optional post-convention primary." The WILKESBARRE RECORD also believes that "for some time to come the demand in Pennsylvania will be for a reform in the primaries in ways that may be suggested, not the abolition of the system."

Its friends will not deny the defects of the primary system, the Kalamazoo GAZETTE says, "but the primary is in every sense superior to the discarded convention plan. Whatever defects the primary system may have are also the defects of the convention system plus many others. Too often the choice of a convention is the outcome of popular enthusiasm and momentary decision, and for this, and numerous other reasons, no movement for the abolition of the primaries and the substitution of the obsolete, boss-controlled convention system can ever again become popular throughout the United States." In addition, Rockford STAR points out "primaries are easing the people away from government, either by bosses or newspapers, and bringing it nearer to the people."

The direct primary, the PATTERSON PRESS insists, does away with decisions by a little handful of manipulators behind locked doors. The worst that can be said for the direct primary is that it reserves to the people the right to make their own mistakes."

HELIUM HEATS THE SUN
London.—Sir Ernest Rutherford, lecturing before the Institute of Electrical Engineers again delved into the fascinating mystery of atoms and atomic power the scientific correspondent of the Daily News says.

The most recent calculations of the weight of atoms permitted him to speculate on the mystery of the energy which keeps up the heat of the sun.

He first explained that the element helium—one of the rare gases of the atmosphere—has a weight of exactly four. In all probabilities it is formed, he said, by a combination of four hydrogen atoms.

It is curious, however, that a hydrogen atom weighs 1.0077. Four hydrogen atoms are thus heavier than the weight of an atom of helium. The mystery is:

When four hydrogen atoms become one helium atom, where does the extra weight go?

Einstein's theory comes to the rescue here. It shows that this weight disappears only to reappear at once in the form of energy which can do work.

Now take the sun. Sir Ernest Rutherford considers that the heat of the sun may be due to the energy given out in the formation of helium from hydrogen atoms. Helium is known to be in the sun in large quantities. Ernest thinks, on the basis of this theory, that the sun may have a life of 10,000 million years.

He gave calculations last night showing the amount of energy set free when one gram of helium is produced from the combination of hydrogen atoms.

From these figures I estimate that if an ounce of helium is produced from hydrogen atoms, the process will liberate enough energy to keep running for an hour a 7½ million horsepower generating station.

The process is being carried out continually before our eyes in the vast natural furnaces such as the sun and the stars.

As yet it has not been possible to reproduce in laboratories the exceptional conditions of pressure and temperature which obtain on such great incandescent heavenly bodies.

HEART DISEASE CLAIMS MOST VICTIMS
London.—"Disease of the heart is now the largest single cause of mortality in this country." This statement was made by Dr. James Knott at a meeting of the Medical Officers of Schools Association, the Daily Express says.

"The great peak in the curve of heart disease," said Dr. Knott, "rises in the second decade of life, and then falls, and it corresponds exactly with the deaths from rheumatism and from chorea. I have found among 5,000 children that 10 per cent. were declared to have organic heart disease, without taking into account the absences—a very important omission."

CHILDREN AS HOLD-UPS
London.—The Westminster Gazette's Dublin correspondent says that Cardinal Logue, preaching at Haggardstown, Dundalk, yesterday, said he heard some time ago, and found that the rumours had foundation, that even schoolboys and schoolgirls were going about carrying revolvers.

"I wish to the Lord," said his Eminence, "that there were a few strong men going about carrying birch rods to get at these people who are carrying revolvers. I have been told that they are holding up people, and I was told of one instance where those engaged in that work were hardly twelve years of age. If the parents and the priests do not look to this, they will have a generation of young footpads and robbers growing up in Ireland. I am told that the girls in some parts of the country are just as bad as the boys."

America As The Goat

England is talking about canceling the debt owed to her by France. With such a noble example, idealists would reason that we should cancel what England owes us.

France, we forgive England. The joker is that there is no one to forgive us. We would be left holding the hot potato.

The money we lent Europe came out of Liberty bonds. When those bonds mature, Americans will have to pay them if Europe doesn't. Regardless of sentiment, these are the facts.

The leading crime in America is auto stealing. Autos worth $100,000 were stolen in 1921. This is shown by a check-up just completed.

The motor thief has eclipsed the bank robber and the housebreaker. This will keep on until there will be the usual reaction to extremes.

You know what happened to a horse-thief years ago in the west. The auto is to us what the horse was to the pioneers.

Lieutenant Nevill and Leon Smith are fined $1 apiece for flying over the Grube farm near Pantstown, Pa. The judge held that they were trespassing.

Landlords are acknowledged to own down to the center of the earth. Not surprising, that they claim the air. It is a ridiculous claim, though for if their aerial jurisdiction goes high enough they can establish their ownership of the sun and charge us for the heat. Some of them would jump at the chance.

Sixty different kinds of mosquitoes exist in New York, says Dr. Herman M. Biggs, health commissioner of that state.

Only two kinds, however, are numerous. One carries malaria germs; the other is incapable of spreading any disease. Roughly, this probably holds true nationally.

If annoyed by mosquitoes there is stagnant water nearby. Biggs says an uncovered rain barrel or stopped up gutter will breed millions of the biters. And a few tin cans half filled with water will breed enough to make a whole neighborhood miserable. Mosquitoes are the result, stagnant water the cause. Fight the cause.

The booze-runners of New York City are popularly imagined to be a new type of criminal, bred by prohibition.

Not so, according to the marine police. They say that the motorboat booze-runners are simply the old time river pirates switched to a new graft. They get 75 cents to a $1.25 a bottle for delivering smuggled liquor to bootleggers.

Thus, in this field, prohibition has not increased crime. The situation plainly is that men are smuggling hooch who otherwise would be pirating anchored ships and stealing precious merchandise cargo. It is the lesser of the two evils.

Experience is nothing but a chain of mistakes. We go through life paying bitterly—for experience. Other men in former generations have sought the same truths paid the same price.

Most of our mistakes could be avoided by using our public libraries which contain all the warnings for every activity of life, culled from the combined experiences of history's greatest minds.

In our most populous states, however, books taken out from public libraries average only two a year for each resident. And usually the two are fiction—a form of mental opium.

The Bureau cannot give advice on legal, medicinal, and financial matters. It does not attempt to settle domestic troubles, nor to undertake exhaustive research on any subject. Q. How much is the church property in the United States worth? E. F. M.

A. The value of such property is $1,875,000,582. It is interesting to compare this amount with the population of the world, 1,649,491,000. It would have taken the contribution of one dollar from each one to accumulate the property that religious organizations own in this one country.

Q. Was the chicken domesticated from a wild state? T. G.

A. It is generally believed that the parent stock of the domestic chicken is the red jungle fowl, which inhabits northern India, the Malay Peninsula and even parts of the Philippines. The bird was first domesticated in Burma or the adjacent countries. The Chinese have a tradition that they received their fowls from the West about the year 1400 B. C.

Q. What became of the Deutschland which came over to this country during the war? T. F. C.

A. The Deutschland was surrendered to France after the Armistice and was sunk by gunfire during target practice by the French Navy on June 13, 1921.

Q. What is the distinction between a language and a dialect? R. A. G.

A. In relation to modern languages, dialect usually means a variety or form of speech differing from the standard or literary language—a local variation. Every great language owes its origin to dialects, and is in fact merely a promoted or elevated dialect itself.

Q. Is there any part of the British Isles where there are more men than women? G. L. C.

A. Women predominate in all the countries. In England and Wales there are 15,082,220 males and 15,805,025 females; in Scotland, 2,345,403 males and 2,533,885 females; Ireland, 2,192,048 males and 2,198,171 females.

Q. Was Admiral Dewey ever on the retired list of the Navy? L. M. M.

A. In recognition of his services at Manila Bay the Government enacted a law whereby he was never to be placed on the retired list, and Admiral Dewey, therefore, although long past the age of retirement, was an active officer in the United States Navy at the time of his death.

Whom Shall Mollie Marry?

Chapter 17 — Ben Starts His Fight

Work kept Mollie occupied for many hurried days. She saw little of Wheeler.

But almost every noon Billy in his roadster stopped for her and together they went spinning off for lunch.

Wheeler, at his office window, saw them one day.

"Gad, how she smiles up at him!" muttered the maker of knives, his hands clenched in anger. "And I have to wrench every smile and sparkle out of her as a miner sweats for gold. That weakling! That broken stick! What does she see in him?"

He tried to immerse himself in office affairs. But the vision of Mollie and Barton kept haunting him.

"I'm right, though," he told himself doggedly. "It's the elemental stuff that wins the women. No amount of civilization can change the fact that way down at the bottom Mollie is sister and I am brother of our cave ancestors. Once a man wooed a woman with a club—one smash for the rival and one for the woman if she persisted. And the woman adored the winner."

"Now I use a club of gold—the gold that means living and a career and power. That blue-eyed strapping is my rival because she doesn't know what she wants! Very well—I'll smash him. When she's my wife, she can pay him back if she wants to. She'll have the power and the position to make him a success."

When Mollie returned he sent her a letter.

"Mollie," said he, "when I play a game, I play it for blood. And I win! We'll have just bought control of the Carson Construction Company, the firm Barton is working for in a big way. I've decided he shall not be retained any longer. We've found a better man. Mollie, you're sticking to a sinking ship."

The girl went white as the paper on Wheeler's desk—white with fear for Billy Barton, whose hopes she knew were bound up in the Carson Company—white with the hypnotic power of this man before her who smashed through ethics and fine considerations as a hammer smashes through golden flags.

She went gliding with the spell of Ben's might and ruthlessness. Was he right after all? Could might be not only right, but wiser and irresistible? For a woman? Her mind was in too chaotic a state to guide her. It was with her lips only that she stammered:

"Some day, Ben, some one will use force on you—and then, heaven pity you!"

ROTARIANS ENJOY STRENUOUS PICNIC

Features Were Baseball Games in Which Scores Looked Like Bank Balances

Rotary club members frisked at another picnic at Alicia park Tuesday. The program was under the direction of the fellowship committee. After the members had turned back from the Sherman house where from force of habit they were about to repair for the club luncheon, they arrived at the tourist park and played circle games while luncheon was being prepared. The members formed a human roulette wheel and were forced to jump over the spinning fish pole each time it came by their way.

A picnic luncheon, served by Mrs. George Merkel, was then enjoyed. Two baseball games furnished the diversion for the rest of the lunch period. The team captained by Earl Tippet won from Lothar Graef's team, 22 to 21, or maybe it was 66 to 63 for the players forgot to keep tally. The game between Henry Babcock's team and that headed by Dr. L. H. Moore resulted in an estimated score of 11 to 10 in favor of the former. There was but one casualty, one man injuring his thumb. The feature of the games was the catching which, it is said, was chiefly on the nose. Some of the fielders, however, put forth such efforts that they nearly dropped dead when they caught a fly. The real stars were Harry Fellows and Richard Powell.

And King Verdo produced the magic needle which had been the third peg of the heel of his left boot.

"Silence!" cried the furious falcon from the tree-top. "We shall now hear the words for which we have waited so long."

The machine was wound and the needle put in place. Everybody held his breath. There was a faint buzzing. Then came the voice of wise old Longhead: "Both kings are imposters. Neither shall marry the Princess Therna. The true kings are bewitched. Let the false kings try their skill at shooting and my words will be proven true. Only true kings can shoot straight."

"It's a lie!" shouted King Indig.

"Bring me my bow!"

"It's false!" roared King Verdo.

"Bring me my arrows!"

"What shall be the target?" cried everyone.

"The dove on your window," cried King Indig.

"Agreed!" said King Verdo.

"Oh, no, no, no!" cried Nancy in alarm. "Please don't."

"Yes," cried out the falcon. "Let the dove be the mark."

So it was settled.

King Indig shot first, but his arrow was so crooked it whizzed around in circles and disappeared in the sky.

"Oh!" moaned the Diddyvevers. King Verdo shot next, but his bow was so crooked that his arrow went straight into the ground.

"Oh!" moaned the Korsknotts in sorrow for their king.

"And now," cried out the furious falcon, "turn the other side of the

Don't Spoil Your Hair By Washing It

When you wash your child's hair be careful what you use. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Mulsified coconut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap and beats anything else all to pieces.

Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified in a cup or glass with a little warm water is all that is required. Simply moisten the hair with water, and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff. You can get Mulsified at any drug store, and a few ounces will last everyone in the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified.

THE HOPE OF THE WORLD

The war of 1914 laid half the nations of the world in the dust. Their homes, their industries, their peace were restored by the rising generation. In them is the hope of the world.

To make motherhood easier, to secure for every baby a clean bill of health and a fair start in life—that is the problem.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent medicine for mothers and for future mothers. For fifty years this medicine has been used successfully in all non-surgical cases of women's diseases.

MILWAUKEE TEAM IS DEFEATED BY KAUKAUNA SQUAD

McCoy-Nolans of Milwaukee Humbled by 9 to 7 Score Tuesday

Kaukauna—The McCoy-Nolan Giants of Milwaukee, "the colored baseball team with a reputation," bowed to the Kaukauna valley league team here Tuesday afternoon on the local lot. The score was 9 to 7. Starting after 5 runs were stacked up by the visitors in the first round, the local squad took up what looked like a hopeless task but what proved easy before the end of the third inning.

Wesley, second baseman, lofted the first ball pitched over the left field wall. Five more hits in that round gave the visitors five runs and a lot of confidence but Lester Smith, pitcher, tightened after that and allowed five hits during the rest of the frame.

Brautigan leaned heavily on the upple after Johnson had fouled out and it shot over the center field fence in the vicinity of the Mulford clothing sign.

In the second stanza a walk, a batter hit by a pitched ball and a terrific drive to the outside world by Les Smith made the score 5 to 4. That was enough for Jackson in the box. He was jerked from hence and Walters came in from centerfield to finish the job.

Walters was a southpaw and more effective although he was unable to prevent Brautigan's crew from scoring at least one run every inning until the seventh time around.

In all the "culled" portside and his pad allowed 14 drives while his team mates were knocking 11 hits off Smith. In the ninth a double and two walks put Smith in a bad hole.

With a heavy hitter up and two strikes called, the giants evidently got a cog in the machinery for the runner on third was caught off the plate as he attempted to score.

The umpiring was laughable. Both sides, however, received the same thing so little could be said. In one case a batter clearly and plainly bunted at the apple and umps called it a ball.

Byrnes starred at bat with three singles and a walk in five chances. Brautigan, Eichrodt, T. Lamers, Ryan and Lester Smith each garnered two safeties. Walter struck out 4 batters and walked two. Smith fanned seven hitters and issued 5 free passes.

An error by Marty Lamers, the only one credited to the home team gave the giants a score in the sixth and two hits bunched in the seventh gave them their final marker. Wild throws by Brav, McCoy-Nolan catcher, gave the white men several easy markers.

Brautigan pulled the feature stunt of the afternoon when he stole home in the fourth inning when an attempt was made to catch a runner sleeping on first. The Negroes went for grandstand stuff in the beginning while they lead and Roland stole third in the second frame. Ryan catching for Kaukauna, played well although he let several balls through him. He went around the circuit twice and stopped at second once in four times at bat.

The McCoy-Nolans were scheduled to meet the Menasha team at 5:30 Wednesday evening.

Candidate for Attorney General Speaks at Shiocton—Rains Delay Farmers

Special to The Post-Crescent
Shiocton—More than 100 people greeted John P. Baker, candidate for attorney general, when he visited Shiocton Tuesday, and he made many friends for himself and his colleagues on the ticket by his talk. Mr. Baker is assistant attorney general and is seeking promotion to attorney general. He explained that he was seeking promotion in order to serve the people in using the anti-trust laws to prevent price fixing combinations by those who desire to profiteer on the necessities of life.

Another reason he desired to be elected attorney general, he said, was to prevent the sale of fraudulent securities in the state. He has been assistant under Attorney General Blaine, Spencer Haven and Morgan, six years in all.

RAIN DELAYS FARMERS

After a week or two of very wet weather the farmers of this vicinity welcome a few bright days and have been busy in the hay field, and in harvesting and cultivating. Weeds secured a tremendous start during the time it was so wet, as the farmers could not work their land, but they are going at it now with a vengeance.

Although the high water and recent copious rains have damaged crops, the remainder look good and promise an abundant harvest this fall.

Fifteen-Year 7½% Sinking Fund Convertible Gold Bonds Series "A" To be dated July 1, 1922

Due July 1, 1937

Interest payable January 1 and July 1

Redeemable on and after July 1, 1925, in whole at any time or in part on any interest date at 107½ and accrued interest until July 1, 1926; and thereafter at 107 and accrued interest until July 1, 1927, the premium thereafter decreasing ½% for each twelve months or part thereof until maturity.

Interest to be payable without deduction of Federal Income Taxes up to 2% per annum, Pennsylvania state four mills tax refundable.

Coupon bonds in denominations of $1,000, $500 and $100. Bonds of $1,000 may be registered as to principal. Total authorized issue $25,000,000.

For information regarding these bonds, we refer to a letter of Mr. C. G. Wilson, President of the Company, which he has summarized briefly as follows:

COMPANY: Incorporated in 1895, is one of the largest manufacturers and dealers in its lines being engaged directly or through subsidiaries in the manufacture of fertilizers, sulphuric acid, cotton seed products and edible oil products and the mining of phosphate rock.

PURPOSE: These $12,500,000 Convertible Bonds and $25,000,000 new First Mortgage Bonds are being issued to purchase or retire at or before maturity existing $25,401,000 funded obligations and to provide additional working capital.

EARNINGS: Consolidated net earnings of the Company and subsidiaries available for interest and federal taxes and before inventory adjustment in 1921 were as follows:

Fiscal Year	Number of Times	Fiscal Year	Number of Times
Ended May 31	All Interest Charges Earned	Ended May 31	All Interest Charges Earned
1907	$4,024,918	1914	$4,073,755
1908	3,527,425	1915	4,979,949
1909	4,508,979	1916	5,667,846
1910	5,336,668	1917	5,905,249
1911	3,488,329	1918	12,043,367
1912	3,577,452	1919	10,933,334
1913	2,991,102	1920	10,876,745

Fiscal year ended May 31, 1921 (Loss), $7,735,781.

Fiscal year ended May 31, 1922 (Profit), $1,684,000.

The consolidated net earnings for the 16 years, after absorbing inventory adjustment in 1921, averaged approximately $4,404,220 per annum, or almost three times the average annual interest charges on all indebtedness for the period.

Results for fiscal year ended May 31, 1922, just closed, while not sufficient to cover interest charges, indicate marked improvement as compared with preceding fiscal year.

Consolidated net assets together with net proceeds of present financing, as planned, are conservatively valued at about $82,000,000; the consolidated net quick assets alone on this basis are approximately $32,000,000.

SINKING FUND: Payable semi-annually, commencing April 1, 1923, is to be sufficient to retire annually 2% of total Series "A" Bonds issued from April 1, 1923, to October 1, 1927, inclusive and 3% per annum thereafter up to April 1, 1937. Credit is to be allowed the Sinking Fund on account of Bonds converted into common stock.

CONVERTIBLE: The stockholders recently authorized the exchange of the present outstanding 279,844 shares of Common Stock into 279,844 voting shares no par value Common Stock and 69,961 non-voting shares no par value Class "B" Common Stock.

The bonds are to bear stock purchase warrants entitling the holder to purchase at $35 per share up to July 1, 1924 inclusive the said voting no par value common stock at the rate of 2 6-7 shares for each $100 principal amount of bonds; the bonds are to be convertible after July 1, 1924 (but only if accompanied by said purchase warrants) into said voting common stock at $35 per share.

RESTRICTIONS: No mortgage to be created by the Company without including these bonds equally and ratably therewith, but this shall not apply to purchase money mortgages, or the new first mortgage, or renewals or refundings thereof or pledges of current assets in the usual course of business for loans not running for more than one year.

It is expected that application will be made to list these Bonds on the New York Stock Exchange.

The legal proceedings are being passed upon by Messrs. Hornblower, Miller & Garrison and Messrs. Oudin, Kilbreth & Schackno, New York. The Company's accounts are audited annually by Messrs. Price, Waterhouse & Co., who have audited the books for over fifteen years.

All offerings are made "when, as and if issued" and received by us and subject to approval of counsel. Interim receipts or temporary bonds will be deliverable in the first instance.

A Full Measure of Service

THE First Quarterly Summary of Refinery Statistics issued by the Bureau of Mines (1922) states that 25% more gasoline was purchased by consumers in January, February and March, 1922, than in the corresponding period of 1921. Many well-informed marketers are predicting that there will be an insufficient supply of gasoline this summer in the Middle West.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has increased its facilities so largely that it feels safe in stating that it will be able to render to the people of the 10 states it serves that degree of service which the public has come to expect from this organization.

The manufacturing facilities of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) have a capacity of more than one billion gallons of gasoline per year. These facilities are being operated 24 hours every day that patrons may be certain of securing their requirements of petroleum products as they need them.

When the flood tide of demand occurs, car owners will realize that the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has anticipated their needs fully and completely.

When a motorist fills his tank at a convenient service station in some remote corner of the Middle West, he may never stop to consider the vast and complicated machinery needful to put that gasoline where he wants it at the moment he needs it most. But he will appreciate that it is there.

He may never know that serving him involves experienced executives of trained initiative and resourcefulness; enormous expenditures for labor and raw material; great, modern refineries continuously operated; immense storage facilities; a magnificent distribution system; and the uniform effort of an organization of 25,000 men and women. All this is back of that small quantity of Red Crown gasoline which every summer tourist confidently expects to purchase and surely finds at all points in the territory served by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

This the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) considers genuine service.

SAWMILLS AT WEST END CARRYING OUT EXPANSION PLANS

"Infant" Industries Occupy Permanent Place in Industrial Scheme of City

Sawmills which have been erected at the west end of Appleton within the last two years are growing steadily in volume of business and amount of equipment. They are "infant industries" now only in the fact that they have been in existence but a short time.

H. J. Thompson Lumber company will have completed in a few days a lumber and stock shed 60 by 100 feet in size. It was erected for the retail yard which the company has started. A large amount of lumber and building supplies already has been stored in the lots. The structure is of reinforced frame construction, with concrete bases on which the roof supports rest.

NEW OFFICE
One corner of the storage shed will be made into a new office for the company. It will join the present one-room building used for that purpose, and will provide a general office and two private offices, one for T. J. Thompson, president of the company, and another for E. E. Brain, secretary. Another recent addition to the plant is a receiving building for shavings which are baled and marketed. A conveyor connects this building with the large planing mill.

A lumber shed about 50 by 70 feet in size also is being built at the plant of O. E. Knoke, just west of the Thompson factory. This will be used for storing special lumber. The company has not engaged in the retail business but is jobbing part of its product to other Appleton yards. Work also is being completed on several residences for employees of the Knoke mill and it is possible that other homes will be built to fill the entire space from the Knoke office building to College Ave.

Sawmills at both plants are idle for the summer but will resume in the fall when logging starts in the woods along the Soo line right of way. Some men are retained in the planing mills and a number in the yards.

NO NAVIGATION ON FOX UNTIL LATE IN AUGUST

Repairs to the canal bank at Little Rapids are going ahead favorably, according to word from Green Bay. Eight cribs have been sunk and stringers attached and a coffer dam put in place by crews working under the supervision of government engineers. Six hundred feet of the bank was washed away by Fox river last month, tying up navigation between Green Bay and upper river ports.

Navigation will not be resumed on the river until the latter part of August, it was said, as the work will not be completed until then. Much dirt and stone yet remains to be put in place on the bank and this will take several weeks.

A dredge from Green Bay, is expected to start work Monday, filling in the bank with dirt from the bottom of Fox river.

FURS AND MYSTERY

By A. CARSTENSEN
Appleton's Exclusive Furrier

The wearer of furs probably little realizes the work and number of processes necessary to render a skin fit for wear.

The dressing of skins is an occupation, or really an art, far more aged than civilization. Just where the Indians or Esquimaux learned the art is not known, but we do know that in the dressing of skins they are not excelled by the expert workmen of today with all their mechanical devices or materials.

Probably the crudest method of skin dressing was practiced by the American Indians, who used to select a smooth, hard piece of ground, fastening the skin to it with wooden pegs. A dressing made from the juices of certain wild berries, mixed with the brains of the animal from which the pelt was taken, was then rubbed over and worked into the leather until it was nearly dry. With a blunt instrument the mixture was then scraped off, leaving the pelt soft and clean.

The Esquimaux method of rendering skins soft was to have the women chew them bit by bit until the whole skin had been softened.

The white man has improved upon the method in which skins are dressed, but he has but little improved upon the results obtained by his less civilized brothers.

In the early days of this country's history the red man was the victim of dishonest white men who took advantage of his lack of knowledge of values, taking his valuable pelts in exchange for a few glass beads or other trinkets worth a few cents.

Today the public, because of its lack of knowledge of fur values, is the victim of the dishonest fur dealer.

Valley Iron Works Completes Work On Huge Paper Machine

More Than 700 Tons of Iron Is Used in Big Machine Which Will Make Roofing Paper for Middlewest Company.

Within about two weeks there will leave Appleton the last section of the third and largest paper machine ever built here. Mechanisms are placing the finishing touches upon the huge paper producing marvel at the plant of the Valley Iron Works preparatory to its delivery and erection in a middle western city for a large corporation.

Not only has the success of the Appleton plant in producing these machines meant the widening of its activities, but the city takes a new place in industrial leadership in the United States by possessing one of the few plants that can equip a paper mill completely. The paper machine and all its accessories such as beaters, pumps and other equipment are turned out in the Valley Iron Works foundry and machine shops virtually in their entirety.

Roofing and fireproof papers are to be manufactured on the new machine, according to W. S. McGinnis, head of the engineering department. It will be of the cylinder type having five cylinders and will be capable of turning out a sheet 120 inches in width. It will be a faster machine than the others made here having a variable surface speed of 14 to 190 feet per minute. It will produce 100 tons of paper in 24 hours.

MUCH BIGGER MACHINE
Some interesting comparisons were made by Mr. McGinnis to indicate how much larger this machine is than the other two which were the first ever made in Appleton. One went to an eastern concern and the other to the same middlewestern mill where the new one is to be shipped. The first and second machines were of 80-inch trim, indicating the width of the sheet of paper they make, and the third is of 120-inch trim. The first had 60 cylinders and the other two have 75 each.

The machine is as long as some city blocks, having a length over all of 256 feet. The first was 225 feet long and the second 256 feet. Iron by tons and tons was poured into the molds in the foundry to make the parts, some of which are herculean in size and weigh tons. The total amount of iron used in machine No. 3 is 700 tons, in the second 600 tons and in the first 550 tons.

A 3-bar compensating winder will receive the paper off the machine after it has passed over the calendars. About 100 horsepower will be required to drive the wheels, calendars, dryer sections, presses and the wet end; fifteen horsepower for the winders; seventy-five for six fan pumps and two 12-plate flat screens, and twenty horsepower for two 60-ton duplex stock pumps.

SIX MONTHS TO BUILD
Ninety-three per cent of the machine was made within the Valley Iron Works plant, Mr. McGinnis says. The time required for construction was six months, and thirty-two flat cars are being used to convey it to the destination. Foundations are erected in the receiving plant before hand in readiness for the machine when delivered so no time will be lost in setting it up.

Months of study, figuring, drawing, consultation and other preliminary work is required before the foundry starts turning out the patterns for casting, roll and other parts from which the moulding is done. Six men in the engineering department worked six months designing the machine and preparing the dimensions and specifications for everything that goes into it. More than a thousand drawings are necessary and 3,600 blueprints are placed in the hands of the plant superintendent when the work of manufacturing is to proceed. It takes one man an entire month to turn out the required blueprints from the drawings by machine.

Methods of making blueprints have gone through radical changes in the last few years, so now their reproduction from the sketches is entirely automatic. The old way was to place the sensitized paper in a glass frame and set it in the sunshine to make the print. The size of the sheet was limited to the size of the frame. Now a machine containing a powerful light is used, and the blue print sheet comes off a roll, propelled slowly in front of the light. The print may be of any length now.

BUILD 427 MILES OF CONCRETE ROAD IN STATE IN 1922

About $7,500,000 Will Be Expended This Year for Permanent Highways

Exact figures for the Wisconsin concrete road building program of 1922, have been announced by the engineer-secretary of the state highway commission, M. W. Torkelson, showed 419.31 miles of new construction and 7.90 miles of highway construction from 1921, making a total of 427.21 miles.

State aid helped the county highway commissions in 37.51 miles of this total, and federal aid in 49.90 miles.

Waukesha and Dodge counties led the state with more than 50 miles each of new concrete road completed or under way at present.

LONG STRETCHES
The longest stretches of road laid were the Columbus-Clyman road in Dodge county, 15.02 miles, the Fond du Lac-Waupun road, 12.44 miles, and the Green Bay-Manitowish road, 11.50 miles.

Twenty eight counties of Wisconsin's 11 took part in the program, as follows:
Brown county, 40.51 miles; Buffalo, 3.38; Dane, 38; Dodge, 50.75; Door, 4.79; Douglas, 14; Fond du Lac, 36.41; Grant, 24; Green, 5.60; Jackson, .08; Jefferson, 23.39; Kenosha, 8.60; Marathon, 2.74; Marinette, 4.47; Milwaukee, 15.35; Outagamie, 8.53; Ozaukee, 8.88; Racine, 23.60; Rock, 17.04; Trempealeau, .06; Vernon, 2.88; Walworth, 24.20; Washington, 24.56; Waukesha, 52.56; Waupaca, 7.28; Waushara, .06; Winnebago, 10.23; Wood, 43.41.

The total cost of these 427.21 miles of road, estimated at around $7,500,000 per mile, is set roughly at $7,500,000.

ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE IS DEFENDED BY HUTTON

By Associated Press
Madison—The Wisconsin anti-saloon league through R. P. Hutton, superintendent, Tuesday replied to the attack made recently by Gov. J. J. Blaine on the organization for its political activities. An open letter from Mr. Hutton to Governor Blaine defended the league position and scored the governor for his stand on the prohibition issue.

A CAR FOR EVERY SIX PERSONS IN STATE THIS YEAR

Nearly 400,000 Automobiles Will Be Licensed Before End of 1922

Madison—At the end of the year 1922 there will be one automobile to approximately every six persons in Wisconsin.

On June 30 there had been licensed by Secretary of State Elmer S. Hall 333,754 passenger cars and 24,214 trucks. At the end of the year it is estimated the total number of motor vehicles licensed will have mounted to 393,000.

The mileage traveled by these motor vehicles during the year will be approximately 1,500,000,000 miles, and with an estimated carrying capacity of three people each they could carry over a million people. In a little over two trips they could carry the whole population of Wisconsin.

These are some of the striking facts brought out by F. A. Cannon, executive secretary of the Good Roads association of Wisconsin, in his annual analysis of automobile figures at the end of the fiscal year, June 30. Taking the total number of passenger cars licensed in the period Jan. 1 to June 30, 333,754, adding the 24,214 trucks licensed in the same period, and allowing three cars for each of the 2,048 dealers, gives a total of 364,112 motor vehicles. Based on the increase in the final six months' period as shown in other years this will bring the total to 392,644 motor vehicles at the end of 1922. As the population of the state is 2,600,000, this would mean one car for six and one half people.

Assuming that the average car travels 4,000 miles a year, the total mileage traveled in Wisconsin would be 1,500,000,000 miles, as against a total estimated railroad travel of 40,000,000 miles.

If the 25,000 trucks in the state each carried a two ton load a day, they would carry 18,000,000 tons a year. The analysis points out the fact that the increase in motor vehicles is much more rapid than in the development of roads. In ten years the number of motor vehicles has increased over 1,300 per cent. At the end of 1905 there were only 1,500 motor vehicles in the state and at the end of this year there will be almost 400,000 demanding more and better roads.

Spend 2 Years On Auto Trip To See America

A family that believes in seeing America first is touring the state through the Fox river valley westward bound. The party camped at Alicia park Monday night in their modern motor truck. It resembles very much the camping automobiles of Dr. D. J. O'Connor and C. A. Pardee and other camping vehicles manufactured by the Appleton Auto Body works. A miniature home is mounted on a Reo speedster and contains a kitchenette, refrigerator and sleeping quarters and all. The party is making a two year tour of America, according to George Merkel, park supervisor. They were following the Yellowstone trail.

Interest Grows Among Amateur Cameramen in "Story of Appleton" Contest

Pictures have been arriving at the chamber of commerce office from entrants in the "Story of Appleton" contest conducted by that organization and Appleton Advertising club. Some of the views by amateur cameramen are a surprise as to their excellence and it is evident that valuable additions will be made to the photographic publicity matter. Other cameramen are filing their Secretary Hugh C. Corbett desires that every contestant enroll so he can be given full instructions. Amateurs owning cameras especially are urged to compete for one of the prizes totaling $100. Persons on farms who own cameras are among those who are expected to take part in the picture race, because rural views of farm houses, buildings, stock, landscape scenes and anything depicting farm life are among those desired for publicity purposes. The contest will end Oct. 1.

Back to the Grain Fields for Health

GRAPE-NUTS is a regular "three bags full" of the best food qualities of whole wheat flour and malted barley, carefully mixed and slowly baked—

- To develop all their appetizing flavor,
- To preserve all their wholesomeness,
- And to provide nature's "broom" that keeps the digestive system spick and span.

There's not a bit of artificial sweetening in Grape-Nuts—it just becomes sweet of its own accord in the long baking.

And that enticing flavor—how good it is with good milk or cream! Fruits, too, fresh or cooked, add to the delight of a dish of Grape-Nuts, morning, noon or sundown.

It is a compact, ready-to-eat food—no cooking needed. Why not try it for tomorrow's breakfast?

"MY HOUSEWORK AND CARE OF CHILDREN NEVER BOTHERS ME NOW," SAYS LOCAL LADY

Tells How Trutona Has Brought Her Sound Sleep, Stopped Pain In Side, Restored Strength and Regulated Bowels.

"I had been practically down and out in health for several years, just having to force myself to do my housework, but my home duties and the care of the children never bothered me a particle, since I've taken this medicine," Trutona," says Mrs. Frank Krause, 169 Gunn-st., Appleton. "It had become so nearly impossible for me to sleep soundly that I actually dreaded to have night come," she continued. My left side hurt me something terrible at times and I felt so tired and weak all the time. Well, sir, Trutona has just helped me wonderfully, regardless of the fact that I had been suffering for a long time. The other morning I even overslept—and to think it was next to impossible for me to sleep at all before using Trutona! The former pains have disappeared from my left side and I notice also that Trutona has regulated my bowels. I can certainly recommend Trutona to the Appleton public as being a splendid nerve medicine."

One can hardly think of a more distressing ailment than sleeplessness. Incidentally, hours of rolling and tossing about the bed at night materially affect and weaken the entire system. Sleeplessness is one of the greatest foes of good health. YOU don't have to suffer from sleeplessness any longer! Trutona will quiet and strengthen your nerve and make sound sleep possible in no time. A trial will prove this fact to YOU, just as it has to hundreds of others in this city and vicinity. Trutona is sold and highly recommended in Appleton at SCHLINTZ BROS. Drug Store; in Neenah at MARSH BROS. Drug Store; Berlin at the M. & Z. Pharmacy; Kaukauna, Brauer's Drug Store; Black Creek, A. A. Gerl Drug Store; Seymour, A. M. McCord Drug Store; Dale H. A. Rouse Drug Store and in surrounding towns at all good druggists.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

The strange and unexplained eccentricity of three wealthy sedate and middle-aged brothers has caused OWEN MILLS, detective sergeant, and his colleague, FERGUS McREADY, known as "Scottie," to investigate on the request of PATRICIA DRAKE, daughter of the youngest brother, HOBART DRAKE, a Wall Street broker who startled his neighbors by appearing in the town square clothed in a sheet, and delivering a mock oration.

Miles in the guise of a houseman, is employed at the home and on his first night here two brothers, ROGER the scientist, and ANDREW, who has recently come from Australia, talking in loud tones. Roger is making a burlesque of a scientific paper, and Andrew, by playing with tops on the parlor floor, had equaled Hobart in eccentricity.

GO ON WITH THE STORY

"You're talking like an ass and worse—a coward!" Andrew interrupted with a sudden, subdued fury. "Jerry's all right but you've forgotten Hobart's girl! Could she live down the fact that her uncle was a suicide?"

"You know what chance we have of averting what is coming?" Roger laughed in a strained falsetto which made the listening detective shudder in spite of himself and there was a quick movement within the room. "Pat had better live with the knowledge that one or both of her uncles—and her father as well—had died by their own hands than that all three of them were—"

"Here! None of that!" Andrew cried. He had evidently thrown caution to the winds for his tones had risen to a bellow and a door opened down the hall. Miles retreated hastily toward his screening corner of the wall near the back stairs but not before the sound of a sharp struggle came from the room where the brothers were, followed by an oath and the tinkle and crash of shattered glass.

At the thought Miles sprang downstairs and darting out the window he concealed himself in the shadow of one of the great pillars. No one was in sight. Leaping from the porch he ran around the rear of the house to the other side. The pantry was dark now but the two faint patches of light from Roger's room still fell upon the sparse grass of last year's lawn. In the glow of the farther one, something glinted like a hand-ful of diamonds.

Broken glass! He had anticipated a pistol or perhaps even a knife of some sort but not a bottle!

Throwing himself flat upon his face the detective writhed inch by inch along the ground until he was close to the scattered fragments of the bottle and then he saw among them a number of tiny white tablets. Seizing a handful of the gravel and tablets together Miles stuffed it into a pocket of his trousers and ran swiftly around the house again to the library window.

CHAPTER V
Carter was ill the following morning—a touch of sciatica—and the new houseman was forced to assume the more complex duties.

Under the kindly guidance of Pierre, he finished arranging the table for breakfast and then remembered the mail. When he had cleaned the lower hall a short time before it had not arrived, but now a small heap of letters and rolled circulars and periodicals lay upon the table and he sorted them rapidly. There was nothing for Andrew Drake nor Miss Patricia, but a formidable pile of correspondence awaited Roger and several letters were addressed to Miss Jerusha. There was only one envelope to place beside Hobart Drake's plate.

Miles noted idly that it was plain, with a typed address and a New York City postmark. Then he hurried out and returned with the fruit jar as the elder Miss Drake entered.

"Good morning, 'William.'" She inclined her gray head formally. "I see you have made a good beginning. My maid, tells me that Carter is ill and you have assumed his duties."

The three brothers entered almost together and took their places with a perfunctory greeting to their sister. Roger seemed drooping and shaken and his drawn, young old face paled as his glance fell on the heap of correspondence beside his plate. He pushed it aside with a gesture of horror and Andrew remarked:

"More scientific criticism, I suppose? Throw it all in the fire, old man, and don't bother your head about it!"

Patricia's entrance created a break in the tenseness of the atmosphere and she eyed the detective in startled, confused recognition but his expression was bland until he reached the shelter of the pantry, where her gaze had followed him, when he risked a quick nod of warning and reassurance. A slight flush suffused her face and she turned to her father only to exclaim in amazement and alarm:

"Daddy! What is it?"

Only Miss Drake was silent. Here eyes were fixed with burning intensity upon the empurpled countenance of the youngest brother, who brought his fist, clenching his solitary letter, down violently upon the table.

"Trouble!" he repeated hoarsely. "Trouble enough! It's each man for himself when you stand with your back against the wall, and I'm going to fight!"

He strode from the room with the open letter still in his hand and they heard the library door close behind him and the key turn in the lock.

The meal ended shortly and Miles was clearing away the dishes and silver when he observed that the envelope of the letter which had caused Hobart Drake such agitation was still lying where he had dropped it, on the floor beside his chair. He stooped hastily and pocketed it and then finished his work in the dining room.

He had started for the back stairs when Miss Drake asked:

"William, do you know how to drive a car?"

Had the opportunity presented itself to send the promised wire to Scottie? The detective gave an inward start.

"Yes, ma'am."

"That is fortunate. William Mr. Hobart must be taken to the station at once."

Miles brought the car to the door to find Hobart waiting on the porch steps watch in hand.

"Get me to the station as quick as you can."

The train was just pulling in as he drew up at the station platform. Miles noted the significant glances and nudges of the loungers as they recognized Hobart Drake and realized anew the humiliation which his young client, Miss Patricia, must have endured.

His thoughts returned again to her, the innocent victim of the mysterious calamity which had overtaken her people when after he had safely dispatched his wire to Scottie, he was bowing slowly back to the house. It did not come wholly as a surprise when he was hailed by an athletic-looking young man who stood by a low, red runabout at the side of the road.

The young man advanced and leaned confidentially over the wheel.

"My name's Richard Kemp. I'll give you five dollars if you'll take a note to the young lady up there. Miss Patricia, and see that she gets it quietly. Do you understand?"

In a quick flash of memory Miles recalled the deep blush which had mounted in the young girl's face when during their first interview at John Wells' office she mentioned the 'Kemp place,' and a light broke over him.

"I think I do, sir." He smiled slightly.

"You're all right!" Kemp clapped him on the shoulder. "There won't be any immediate answer but I'll be at the place she knows every evening at six sharp. Here you are!"

He produced an envelope and a five-dollar bill, both of which Miles accepted gravely.

"Thank you, sir. I'll deliver the note myself—Goodbye, sir."

He drove speedily back to the Drake estate and around to the garage to put up the car. As Miles descended from the car he perceived a battle-scarred tom cat clawing to reach a plate of stale meat on a high shelf, and an inspiration came to him. Taking the envelope from his pocket and examining the five tablets, he selected one of them and, rolling it in a small piece of meat he dropped it on the floor. With a growl the cat pounced upon it. For a moment the animal crouched and then its eyes widened with a look of almost human surprise. It rose, turned in a wavering half circle and then all at once relaxed rather than fell upon its side with all four feet out stretched and the lurid eyes filmed.

So Roger had not been bluffing, after all! As Miles replaced the envelope in his pocket, his fingers came in contact with another, the one which Hobart Drake had dropped on the dining room floor. What could it have contained to drive him into such a tempest of fury?

The detective was turning it over speculatively in his hands when suddenly he uttered a sharp exclamation. He needed no magnifying glass to verify the truth, the canceled stamp had been transferred from another envelope and the postmark was a forgery. That letter had never passed through the mails!

CHAPTER VI
It was close to midnight when a stocky figure enveloped in a heavy ulster wormed its way through a gap in the hedge and started a circuitous course about the Drake house.

A faint glimmer showed on the third floor and silhouetted against the dim patch of light appeared the profile of a man. The watcher below picked up a handful of loose gravel which he flung against the window.

Almost instantly the light was extinguished, there came the slight, grating sound of a carefully raised sash, and the tiny spark of a cigarette gleamed just above the sill. A low, peculiar whistle emanated from the lips of the nocturnal visitor and the cigarette, describing a wide arc, fell upon the lawn almost at his feet as the window was softly closed once more.

In a few moments the kitchen door opened and Owen Miles in the sweater and sneakers of his nightly vigil slipped around the corner of the house.

"Scottie old scout! I knew you'd try to get in touch with me if you could and I've been making a motion picture 'still' of myself against that window shade since nine o'clock. He whispered, 'Have you learned anything?'"

BLACK CREEK AND FREEDOM PLAY NEXT SUNDAY

Both Teams Drilling
Hard For Next ContestFreedom Team Will Take On
New Outfield Player for Coming Contest

Black Creek's County league team takes a jaunt over to Freedom Sunday to give battle to the Outagamie leaguers in that village. Both teams lost their games last Sunday and a tough fight is expected as each will try to keep out of the zero list in the average column.

Freedom's weakest point is the outfield and the manager is looking high and low for a crack outer garden man. With this position bolstered up the Freedom outfit will be strong and will give the other outfits of the circuit a merry run. No names have been mentioned in connection with the addition to the team but Schommer has several men in view and will make the announcement soon. Hard drill is featuring the week at Freedom and with the demand in good condition and the weather fair a good game can be looked for.

Nelson and Minkbeige will be the battery for the Freedom aggregation. Black Creek also reports that the same lineup that played against Hortonville last Sunday will fight the battle at Freedom. Pitcher Bramer showed up well at Hortonville and will again occupy the hill with Perry as catcher. The Creek team is doing extra hard practicing this week to strengthen the weak points of the team and is just as determined as the Freedom outfit to come out of the game with a win.

CUB BUCK TO PLAY WITH BAY PRO TEAM

Green Bay—Capt. Curley Lambau of the Green Bay football team, members of the Professional league, did a good stroke of business here last night when he signed up Cub Buck to play with his team this season.

Buck was one of the stars of the Green Bay Packers last fall and his services this season were in demand by many teams in the country. The Milwaukee Racine, Canton and Columbus teams were after him.

The Green Bay grid leader made Buck an offer which he could not very well afford to pass up and after a little discussion, Buck, who is Bay Scout director and a prominent member of the Rotary club, put his "John Hancock" on the contract.

Buck will have charge of the Green Bay's team line and the terms of agreement call for the big player to report in Green Bay three times a week for practice.

GREEN BAY PRO WINS
STATE TITLE IN GOLF

Ironmonger, Wis.—Blm Lovekin of the Fox River Valley club at Green Bay succeeded Jimmy Mason, assistant to Dave Wilcox of the Blue Bird club, as professional golf champion of the state here on Monday. Jimmy Rose finished second.

This Is White Sox Best Trio

When considering the most valuable player in the major leagues the Chicago White Sox have three entries.

Eddie Collins, remarkable second sacker; Ray Schalk, brilliant catcher, and "Red" Faber, crack pitcher.

Collins is the best second baseman of all times. Fifteen years of campaigning do not seem to have slowed him up in any department of the game. He is the key to the Chicago infield. No brainier player ever wore a spiked shoe. It is difficult to estimate the value of Collins to the White Sox aside from his mere play.

Ray Schalk is one of the greatest catchers in the history of the game. He is a fine receiver, uses uncanny judgment, and is the "pepper-pot" of the White Sox machine. Much of the good showing made by the White Sox pitchers is in a large measure due to the excellent manner in which they are handled by Schalk.

"Red" Faber is bearing the brunt of the Chicago pitching burden. The veteran spitballer is having another mighty good year. His work early in the season kept the club going when the rest of the staff was wobbling badly.

The influence of Faber has finally asserted itself, the two recruits, Robertson and Leverette, have found themselves and are winning consistently, while Hodge, who has been kicked around for several years, is pitching the best game of his career.

Graef's Outfit Suffers First Defeat of Season—Other Games Postponed

Twilight baseball players from the Sixth ward team were successful in crimping the record of no defeats that the First ward team has held so far in their game Tuesday evening at the Columbus school diamond. Graef's men put a tough fight and it was not until the last innings of the contest that the Sixth ward team stowed the game away.

Both outfits walloped the ball in great style with the Sixth shading the First slightly. Two home runs were registered by the Sixth warders, one by Turnover and the other by Radke.

The games scheduled between the Fourth and Fifth and the Second and Third ward teams were postponed until next week.

The game which was slated for the First and Fifth warders to be played Monday evening also was postponed.

New York—The Australian cup team arrived from England on Tuesday. The party included Gerald L. Patterson, the team captain, and Mrs. Patterson, Pat O'Hara, Wood, R. C. Wertheim and his sister, Miss Wertheim Patterson, Anderson and Wood will carry the colors of the antipodes. The Australians have been invited to tune up on the courts of the Seabright, N. J. Lawn Tennis club and also the Crescent Athletic club, Brooklyn, in preparation for their semifinal match with France.

LAWRENCE TO HAVE STRONG FOOTBALL TEAM NEXT FALL

Coach McChesney of the Lawrence college football team has been putting in a good deal of time this summer making extensive plans for the coming gridiron season. The schedule that the Blue and White team has before it this fall is a stiff one including the strong Hamilton college aggregation which copped the Minnesota title last year.

McChesney lost few men by graduation last spring and will have a large number of crack high school athletes entering school next fall so the prospects for another strong team are very bright.

BAY VALLEY TEAM
SIGNS NEW PITCHER

Green Bay—"Chet" Murphy who according to Manager Nagel is a corking good right pitcher, has been added to the Green Bay club. Murphy has been up in the big leagues and of late has been pitching in semi-pro circles in Chicago.

Murphy will arrive here in time for the series with the Sunnons and Manager Nagel plans to work him in one of the games.

Chicago—Ban Johnson declared the trade of Joe Dugan and Elmer Smith by Boston to the Yanks for Elmer Miller, John Mitchell, Wilson Fawcett, and another player was a regrettable transaction.

Cleveland, O.—Mayor Kohler refused a permit for the proposed Kibane-Martin bout and said the New York boxing commission had "made a joke of the game."

APPLETON SIGNS
FORMER MENASHA
THIRD BASEMEN

Eddie Zilenski Added to Paper-makers Lineup—Expect More New Men

Announcement has been made that the Appleton Valley league baseball team has signed Eddie Zilenski, former third baseman of the Menasha team, to play that position for the Papermakers. The Menasha player is a good hitter and infielder and will be a valuable addition to the Appleton club. Dugan will play in the outfield for the remainder of the season.

The management of the local team is negotiating for other new players but no definite announcement has been made as yet concerning these. The other additions probably will include outfield men.

New York Yankees and St. Louis Cardinals.

Urban Shocker recovered his ability to jinx the Yanks after four straight setbacks and weaved a shut out spell over murderers row while his mates knocked submarine Carl Mays from the box and tallied eight runs. Ken Williams lashed out his twenty-second homer and scintillated in the field.

The Giants had a more strenuous time with the Cardinals winning 9 to 8 chiefly by virtue of a seven run melee in the fifth that drove Bill Doak from the box.

Tv Cobb took the American league batting leadership from his St. Louis rival, George Sisler by a margin of one point as a result of obtaining four hits off Walter Johnson and leading his team to an 8 to 5 victory over Washington. Cobb's unofficial but true average Wednesday was .411 and Sisler's .410.

Guy Morton shut out the Athletics 4 to 0 in the first game of a double header but failed in an "iron man" attempt to pitch both contests. He was knocked from the box in the fifth of the second encounter and the Mackmen broke even with Cleveland winning 11 to 4.

Blankenship twirled the White Sox to 3 to 1 triumph over Boston.

SHOCKER BLANKS
NEW YORK YANKS
BY COUNT OF 8-0

Williams Gets Home Run No. 22—Yanks Allowed Only Six Wallops

St. Louis—Shocker allowed only six hits and the Browns shut out the Yankees, 8 to 0, on Tuesday, in the first game of a four game series.

The locals batted Mays out of the box in the sixth inning when they scored five runs. In this fourth inning Williams knocked out his twenty-second home run of the season with Sisler on base. The other run was scored in the eighth.

Joe Dugan, third baseman, acquired on Sunday from Boston, made his first appearance in a New York uniform.

The victory increased the Browns lead for first place to two and one half games. Score: St. Louis .000000000—0 6 0 New York .000020501—3 11 0 Batteries: Mays O'Doul and Schang, Shocker and Severed.

TRIBE AND MACKS SPLIT
Cleveland—The Cleveland Indians defeated Philadelphia, 4 to 0, on Tuesday in the first game of a double header and then lost the second, 11 to 4.

Guy Morton, who allowed only seven hits in the first game and fanned seven batters, tried to pitch the second game also but was knocked out of the box in the fifth. Scores: Philadelphia .000000000—0 7 0 Cleveland .000020501—3 4 6 Batteries: Rummel and Bruggy Morton and O'Neill.

SECOND GAME
Philadelphia .000353000—11 13 1 Cleveland .000003010—4 9 1 Batteries: Hastv and Perkins Morton, Lindsay, Bagby and O'Neill. L. Sewell.

TIGERS BEAT GRIFFS
Detroit—Detroit hit Johnson hard on Tuesday, while Oldham was held out of Washington in check and won, 8 to 5, in the opening game of the series here. Shanks was responsible for all the Tiger runs, driving in four with his three hits and scoring the other. Fred Haney, Tiger utility infielder was notified on Tuesday he had been indefinitely suspended for his run in on Sunday with Trainer Bierhalter of St. Louis, who was acting as umpire in the Detroit-Brown game. Score: Wash. .103000020—5 11 1 Detroit .32000120—3 15 1 Batteries: Johnson, Turk and Pienich, Oldham and Woodall.

SOX BEAT BOSTON
Chicago—Ted Blankenship held Boston to five hits, only two of which were bunched in the last inning, while Chicago hit Pennock opportunely and won the first game of the series, 3 to 1. Mitchell, who came to Boston from the Yankees in the Dugan deal, played short. Score: Boston .100000000—1 5 1 Chicago .010001001—3 11 1 Batteries: Pennock and Walters; Blankenship and Schalk.

New York—Mrs. Mallory won the third round of the New York State Women's tennis championship.

Mahendra Is Unable To Answer All Questions

More and more letters are being received by the Post-Crescent for Mahendra, the East Indian seer who is playing at Appleton theatre. He has received so many questions that it is doubtful if he can answer them all. No more questions will be received after today.

Here is another batch of questions and their answers:
J. L.—Will I sell my property? Ans.—You will sell your property, but you will not receive the amount of money that you expect.

E. M.—Will I close the deal. Ans.—This deal seems to concern a farm. I see that the one you have in mind will purchase the farm.

V. V.—Do you advise a change for me? Ans.—This seems to concern business. I do not advise a change at present, as you will receive an offer later on.

E. R.—What became of my aunt's watch? Ans.—It seems as though while visiting in Iowa it was stolen by a party presenting themselves as a friend.

J. A. F.—Will I be successful this year? Ans.—If this is in reference to business I see that you will be quite successful.

A. H. F.—How can I get a better disposition? Ans.—I advise you to think before you act and also learn to control your temper.

E. M. S.—What profession should I take up? Will I ever be rich? Ans.—I advise you to take up a business course. I can not see that you will ever be rich.

C. L. F.—Will my husband be successful at his present position? Ans.—Yes, I see that your husband will be quite successful at his present position.

M. D.—Will I marry the man I am keeping company with? Ans.—Yes, I see a marriage for you, however not very soon.

E. H. C.—Where is our cat? Ans.—This cat was stolen about two years nine months ago, he appears to be a Persian cat.

S. W.—Would you advise my son to make the change? Ans.—This seems to be a business change. I advise it to be a business change. I advise it to be a business change. I advise it to be a business change.

J. G. K.—Will I be successful in my undertaking? Ans.—This undertaking seems to be a lawsuit. It seems as though it will take place some time in November. I see that you will make a trip for this. You will be quite successful.

L. J. L.—Would you advise me to go to college this year? Ans.—My advice to you is to go to college as you will be quite successful. Law seems to be the most successful vocation for you. Lawrence seems to be the college you have in mind.

A. W.—Will I sell soon? Ans.—Yes I see a sale of the property, however that will not be very soon. It seems to come in the fall of the year.

D. H.—When will I get a piano? Ans.—I see that you will receive a piano next Christmas. You will then begin to study music.

V. S.—What course could you advise me to take up in High School? Ans.—The commercial course is best suited for you. I see that you will be very successful in the business world.

C. H.—When and where will I get a job? Ans.—I advise you to get up early in the morning and you will be able to find a position.

J. F. B.—Will I ever have any more trouble with the person I have in mind. Ans.—Yes, this person seems to be the landlord. I do not consider this a good investment. I advise a move.

M. W.—I see that both of you are very foolish, as neither one of you really love him. I advise both of you and your sister to forget him.

M. J.—Will my husband be successful? Ans.—My advice to your husband is to remain where he is employed at present, as he will be much more successful.

M. H.—Will I be successful in my new line of work this fall. Ans.—Yes I see much success for you, although you may consider a few hardships at the beginning.

E. W.—Will my operation be successful? Ans.—Yes, I see that your operation will be quite successful. I see that it will be a wonderful improvement to your health.

B. V. D.—Which of the two men that I am going should I marry? Ans.—The young man that you care less for is the one who thinks more of you. I do not see that you will marry either.

G. H.—Will I ever have a better position? Ans.—You will receive a better position around December. I advise a little more energy put forth.

L. E. W.—Will I marry the man I have in mind? Ans.—I see that you will marry a young man that you are corresponding with at present.

B. S. S.—Will I marry soon? Ans.—I would not advise a marriage for you as your health is not strong enough just now.

Mr. and Mrs. Owen Peterson of Dale visited friends here Monday afternoon. Miss Mary Casey was a caller in Appleton Monday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Schwab attended the Equity picnic at Hortonville Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Evers and son Jack and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Steidl enjoyed an outing at High Cliff Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cummings of Grand Chute spent Sunday with the former's brother William and family. William Komp and family have returned to Hartford after spending a week with relatives here.

John Starfeldt has accepted employment with Arthur Zschaechnner near Shiocton.

Master Stanley Zahrt of Appleton is spending a week with Edwin Schwab. Mr. and Mrs. George Doman and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Dietzler of Hortonville spent Friday evening at the home of Albert Mornick.

Mr. and Mrs. John Casey autoed to Milwaukee Saturday and will visit John Wittin at Menominee Falls before returning home. They were accompanied by Mrs. James Meakins and daughter of North Dakota, who are visiting here.

William Staeger, Sr., left Friday for Oshkosh, where he will work aboard the steamer Valley Queen for the remainder of the season.

Edward Schultz and family spent Sunday evening with friends in Appleton.

William Staeger, Jr., who is employed in Appleton, spent Sunday with his family here.

Mrs. William Geshka and her twin sister of Manawa celebrated their birthday anniversaries together here Sunday.

Edward Jollin of Canada is visiting his twin brother, Joseph, at the George Jollin home this week. He is making the trip by automobile.

THE STAGE

"Mahendra" Still Mystified

The work of the Great Mahendra is growing more mystifying with each performance, people that have heretofore been skeptical are now joining the endless throngs of those to take recognition of the wonderful powers this man works under. At yesterday's performance he came out point blank and told two absolute strangers in the audience the city in which they lived, one being Hastings, Nebraska, and the other Louisville, Kentucky. Mahendra did not finish with just the name of the town but told them their street address and number of the house. This is just one of the awe-inspiring miracles that he does.

"Mahendra" will absolutely close his engagement at Fischer's Appleton Theatre on Friday of this week so if you are desirous of asking him any question there remain but a few performances in which to do so.

A Paramount Picture "Spanish Jade" featuring David Powell and Marc MacDermott is being shown until Friday, May MacAvoy comes Friday and Saturday in "Through a Glass Indow." The much asked for Tom Meighan picture "A Brother Daddy" starts next Tuesday.

GREEN BAY TO BUILD ADDITION TO SCHOOLS

Green Bay—A building program that will cost more than $1,000,000 and that will take care of the needs of Green Bay schools for years to come, was determined on by the school board and instructions given communities to get the work under way at once. Besides a new East High school, to cost more than a half million, minor alterations in other buildings, including the remodeling of the present East High school into a Junior High school, will be made.

GREEN BAY IS HIT BY LACK OF COAL SUPPLY

Green Bay—Green Bay is virtually without coal and is without prospect of getting any until the strike is settled. The F. Hurlbut Fuel company has no supply and is merely taking orders to be filled when more coal is received. Other companies have a very limited supply on hand, only enough to fill contracts already made, it was said.

In the opinion of the dock operators here, this means that many industries will be forced to shut down before coal is received.

"$15 PIE" IS NOT EXPENSIVE.

A little sugar, flour, melted butter, lemon juice, an egg yolk, milk, an egg white, and a few grains of salt are all that enter into it. It is merely the arbitrary name of an excellent dessert. Fifteen dollars worth of these materials made into pies would furnish a movie comedian with ammunition for several reels of film.

This recipe and scores of others for delightful desserts, salads, sauces, relishes, cooling drinks, and other things are published in a free booklet which any of our readers may secure through our Washington Information Bureau.
